It is Disciplined Agile Consortium Inc.'s policy to respect your privacy regarding any information we may collect while operating our website. This Privacy Policy applies to <https://www.disciplinedagileconsortium.org> (hereinafter, "us", "we", "DAC", or "https://www.disciplinedagileconsortium.org"). We respect your privacy and are committed to protecting personally identifiable information you may provide us through the Website. We have adopted this privacy policy ("Privacy Policy") to explain what information may be collected on our Website, how we use this information, and under what circumstances we may disclose the information to third parties. This Privacy Policy applies only to information we collect through the Website and does not apply to our collection of information from other sources.

This Privacy Policy, together with the Terms and Conditions posted on our Website, set forth the general rules and policies governing your use of our Website. Depending on your activities when visiting our Website, you may be required to agree to additional terms and conditions.

Canadian Privacy

As a Canadian corporation, we are bound by the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada.

Website Visitors

Like most website operators, DAC collects non-personally-identifying information of the sort that web browsers and servers typically make available, such as the browser type, language preference, referring site, and the date and time of each visitor request. DAC's purpose in collecting non-personally identifying information is to better understand how DAC's visitors use its website. From time to time, DAC may release non-personally-identifying information in the aggregate, e.g., by publishing a report on trends in the usage of its website.

DAC also collects potentially personally-identifying information like Internet Protocol (IP) addresses for logged in users and for users leaving comments on <https://www.disciplinedagileconsortium.org> forums. DAC only discloses logged in user and commenter IP addresses under the same circumstances that it uses and discloses personally-identifying information as described below.

Gathering of Personally-Identifying Information

Certain visitors to DAC's websites choose to interact with DAC in ways that require DAC to gather personally-identifying information. The amount and type of information that DAC gathers depends on the nature of the interaction. For example, we ask visitors who sign up for a newsletter at <https://www.disciplinedagileconsortium.org> to provide a username and email address.

We have limited our collection of Personally-Identifying data to only that required to:

- 1) allow you to subscribe to our Newsletters and Event Announcements;
- 2) allow you to take out, retain and renew your membership;
- 3) allow you to move through the Certification levels; and
- 4) meet taxation requirements for various jurisdictions.

You have control over what information we send you as well as which information you are willing to volunteer and make public. This is a great time for you to review and update your Profile. If you have any concerns at any time, please email admin@disciplinedagileconsortium.org.

Security

The security of your Personal Information is important to us, but remember that no method of transmission over the Internet, or method of electronic storage is 100% secure. While we strive to use commercially acceptable means to protect your Personal Information, we cannot guarantee its absolute security.

Advertisements

DAC does not allow Ads to appear on our website by any advertising partners. This Privacy Policy covers the use of cookies by DAC and does not cover the use of cookies by any advertisers.

Links To External Sites

Our Service contains links to external sites that are not operated by us, such as:

- a) Our testing platform; and
- b) Our payment platform for Membership and Event fees.

If you click on a third party link, you will be directed to that third party's site. We strongly advise you to review the Privacy Policy and terms and conditions of every site you visit. We have no control over, and assume no responsibility for the content, privacy policies or practices of any third party sites, products or services.

Protection of Certain Personally-Identifying Information

DAC discloses potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information only to those of its employees, contractors and affiliated organizations that:

- I. need to know that information in order to process it on DAC's behalf or to provide services available at DAC's website, and
- II. that have agreed not to disclose it to others. Some of those employees, contractors and affiliated organizations may be located outside of your home country; by using DAC's website, you consent to the transfer of such information to them. DAC will not rent or sell potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information to anyone. Other than to its employees, contractors and affiliated organizations, as described above, DAC discloses potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information only in response to a subpoena, court order or other governmental request, or when DAC believes in good faith that disclosure is reasonably necessary to protect the property or rights of DAC, third parties or the public at large.

If you are a registered user of <https://www.disciplinedagileconsortium.org> and have supplied your email address, DAC may occasionally send you an email to tell you about new features, solicit your feedback, provide opportunities for Professional Development used toward retaining your certification or just keep you up to date with what's going on with DAC and our products. We strive to keep these types of email to a minimum. If you send us a request (for example via a support email or via one of our feedback mechanisms), we reserve the right to publish it in order to help us clarify or respond to your request or to help us support other users. DAC takes all measures reasonably necessary to protect against the unauthorized access, use, alteration or destruction of potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information.

Aggregated Statistics

DAC may collect statistics about the behavior of visitors to its website. DAC may display this information publicly or provide it to others. However, DAC does not disclose your personally-identifying information.

Cookies

To enrich and perfect your online experience, DAC uses "Cookies", similar technologies and services provided by others to display personalized content, appropriate advertising and store your preferences on your computer.

A cookie is a string of information that a website stores on a visitor's computer, and that the visitor's browser provides to the website each time the visitor returns. DAC uses cookies to help DAC identify and track visitors, their usage of <https://www.disciplinedagileconsortium.org>, and their website access preferences. DAC visitors who do not wish to have cookies placed on their computers should set their browsers to refuse cookies before using DAC's websites, with the drawback that certain features of DAC's websites may not function properly without the aid of cookies.

By continuing to navigate our website without changing your cookie settings, you hereby acknowledge and agree to DAC's use of cookies.

E-commerce

Those who engage in transactions with DAC – by purchasing DAC's services or products, are asked to provide additional information, including as necessary the personal and financial information required to process those transactions. In each case, DAC collects such information only insofar as is necessary or appropriate to fulfill the purpose of the visitor's interaction with DAC. DAC does not disclose personally-identifying information other than as described below. And visitors can always refuse to supply personally-identifying information, with the caveat that it may prevent them from engaging in certain website-related activities.

Business Transfers

If DAC or substantially all of its assets, were acquired, or in the unlikely event that DAC goes out of business or enters bankruptcy, user information would be one of the assets that is transferred or acquired by a third party. You acknowledge that such transfers may occur, and that any acquirer of DAC may continue to use your personal information as set forth in this policy.

Privacy Policy Changes

Although most changes are likely to be minor, DAC may change its Privacy Policy from time to time, and in DAC's sole discretion. DAC encourages visitors to frequently check this page for any changes to its Privacy Policy. Your continued use of this site after any change in this Privacy Policy will constitute your acceptance of such change.
